OUTLINES.

—President Roosevelt yesterday inspected the operations on the Panama canal, taking the risk of landslides in the deep Culebra cut during a heavy downpour of rain; he saw every phase of the work and talked with the men on the steam shovels.——There was a rumor that Commander Peary, the Arctic explorer was lost but he was heard from yesterday on the coast of Labrador, having put into Chateau Bay on account of thick weather.——Mike Ward, of Canada, was killed in a prize fight by Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia, at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Thursday night.——General William P. Hall, of the Department of the Gulf, recommends that the coast artillery be sent into camps with the infantry and cavalry to make it more efficient in case of war.——On account of the suit against the Standard Oil Company its stock went down to $524 per share in New York yesterday, a decline from $840 in 1902.——At Milledgeville, Ga., yesterday a negro upon being taken to the scaffold fought the sheriff and his deputies like a maniac.——At Macon, Ga., a number of negroes have been finally enjoined from organizing and using the name of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.——Tremendous loss of property and many lives have been lost by the great floods in the Pugit Sound country.——At the meeting of the American Humane Society in Chicago Thursday night, amid the tears and denials of ladies, J. Howard Moore declared women who wear heads of birds and skins of animals are barbarious.

New York Market: Money on call steady 4 to 5 per cent; ruling rate 4 1-2; closing bid 4; offered at 4 1-2; spot cotton 10 points higher; closing steady at 11 cents; flour firmer with a moderate trade; wheat easy, No. 2 red 80 3-8 elevator; oats steady; mixed 39; turpentine firm 70 1-2 to 71; rosin firm, strained common to good 4.20 to 4.25.

—Probably the United States Senate would like to find out from Mrs. Platt how she got Senator Platt in a notion to quit.

—The New York Mail remarks: "Boni retains his maiden name." He will find, however, that he can't get as much with it as he did once.

—An exchange says: "President Roosevelt wired back on the Battleship Louisiana." Most every body expects to see him him wire in and wire out on the tariff question when Congress meets.

—While the battleship Louisiana was on her way to Panama, President Roosevelt went to the furnace and helped the stokers shovel in coal. It is not stated whether he bantered any of the boys for a wrestling match.

—The single track railroad is now being blamed for many of those horrible accidents with terrible loss of life. It has been demonstrated that two trains going in opposite directions at full speed can't pass each other on a single track.

—Governor Magoon contemplates spending $6,000,000 in public improvements in Cuba. The Cubans fear that the American administration is going to be too extravagant with their money, but if they have to pay big tariff taxes their Republican government might persuade them that the foreigners pay for the expenditures.

—Says the Duplin Journal, of Faison, N. C: "Martin Bryant, our colored blacksmith, died on Monday morning, having been too sick for weeks to be at his shop. He was an honest hard working colored man and this community of white people as well as his many colored friends will regret his death and miss the oft-heard ring of his hammer and anvil." If all colored men were like Faison's colored blacksmith very little would be heard of race troubles in the South.

—The San Francisco people insist on saying who shall attend their public schools despite any Federal treaty with a foreign nation. Perhaps the Californians have looked up the fact that all power, rights and privileges not delegated by the States to the Federal government are reserved to the States. They can't possibly find any warant for President Roosevelt's and Secretary Root's assumption that a treaty with the Hottentots would give the Federal government power to send a Hottentot to a State school.

BETTER SIDEWALKS

Test of New Law as to Granolithic Pavements Will Probably be Made Soon.

PROVISIONS OF THE ACT

Board of Audit and Finance Will be Asked For Amount Sufficient to Make an Experiment of the Question—Other Notes.

It is stated that there is a movement on foot by the Streets and Wharves Committee of the City to make a test of the law enacted by the last Legislature of the State in regard to compelling property owners to lay granolithic sidewalks in front of their holdings in a certain area prescribed by the Board of Aldermen. The matter has been in abeyance some time and some property owners have been disposed to resist any compulsion in the matter, claiming that the law is unconstitutional. The Streets and Wharves Committee has been and is still handicapped for the lack of funds to do anything, but it is stated now that the Board of Audit and Finance will be asked for a small appropriation to experiment with the law in regard to the sidewalks.

The machinery for the act provides that the Board of Aldermen may designate a certain area where improvements are greatest needed and may pass an order requiring all new sidewalks in that territory to be laid according to a uniform plan of whatever material the Streets and Wharves Committee may deem best. Notice is served on the property owner and after a certain length of time, if the improvement is not made, the law prescribes that the city shall do the work and assess the cost of the same against the property, the amount being a lien on the property and recoverable in the Superior Court in the same manner as taxes are now collected.

The Board of Aldermen at a meeting long ago, prescribed the area in which granolithic sidewalks should be laid and notice was issued to a large number of holders. Some of them complied with the law without compulsion, but others stood back on the unconstitutionality of the law and threatened litigation. It was up the Streets and Wharves Committee to lay the sidewalks in behalf of the city and proceed according to law to collect the amount from abutting property, but when that point was reached the Board of Audit and Finance found the appropriation exhausted and would not allow the money for experimenting purposes in the amount asked for. It is said that the Board is not now averse to allowing a sufficient amount for the test case, however, and it is expected that something in this respect will be doing in the near future

The law is regarded as an admirable one from a civic improvement point of view and there are good legal opinions that it is perfectly constitutional. The sooner the act is tested and the sooner the city authorities proceed thereunder, the better.

BOAT FOR RESERVES

Request of North Carolina Naval Brigade For Cruiser at Wilmington Will Probably be Granted Soon —Other States Favored.

In view of the action of the War Department in extending similar favors to the naval militia of other States, the Wilmington Division, Naval Reserves i svery much encouraged in the belief that in the near future they will receive from the government a suitable boat to be permanently stationed at Wilmington for their use and for that of the North Carolina Naval Brigade on its annual cruise each year. Lieut. Commander H. M. Chase, of the Wilmington Division, is advised by Gov. Glenn, through whom the request was made to the War Department, that the government would grant the favor of the North Carolina Naval Brigade just as soon as a suitable boat was available in the service. This was a week or two ago and the fact that two gunboats were turned over to the militia of other States at Norfolk this week lends encouragement to the belief that it will be North Carolina's turn next.

The ex-Spanish gunboat Alvarado, which was captured in Cuba during the Spanish-American war was turned over yesterday at the Norfolk navy yard to Capt. Bostwick of the Louisiana Naval Militia, who arrived over the Norfolk & Western with a detachment of the naval militia of his State.

Capt. Bostwick went to Norfolk as official representative of the State of Louisiana for the transfer of the vessel.

The Alvarado and her sister ship, the Sandoval, were sent to Norfolk some months ago from Anapolis, where they were in service at the Naval Academy. They have been placed in repair and while the Alvarado goes South, the Sandoval will go North, having it is said, been assigned to the New York Naval Reserves. It is thought that the Sandoval will be sent to Lake Champlain. The cruiser Newark has been assigned to the New York Naval Reserves also.

It will be recalled that the Alvarado and Sandoval were both here just after the Spanish-American war in command of Lieuts. Anderson and Blue.

FLOTILLA MAY COME

Torpedo Boat Fleet Will Probably Call at Wilmington on Way South.

INQUIRY HERE FOR COAL

If Satisfactory Arrangements Can be Made For Fuel Supply Uncle Sam's Little Yellow Jackets Will be Here.

Provided sufficient arrangements for coaling can be made here, the Second Torpedo Boat Flotilla of the United States Navy, in command of Lieutenant Commander Edwin A. Anderson, will call at this port on its cruise South about the last of the present month. This information is conveyed in an official communication received by Mayor A. M. Waddell yesterday from Assistant Paymaster J. F. O'Mara from League Island, Pa., aboard the United States Ship Truxtum. The Mayor is asked to get the local dealers to submit bids on five hundred tons of steam coal, more or less, and to advise him as to the means of coaling at this station. Mayor Waddell at once gave notice of the proposed visit of the Flotilla to such of the dealers as he could reach and it is expected that the commander of the fleet will be advised as to the means that are afforded here for taking fuel supply of the boats. The letter to the Mayor is as follows:

U. S. S. Truxtun, League Island, Pa., November, 13, 1906.

Sis: Lieutenant Commander E. A. Anderson, commanding the Second Torpedo Flotilla, directs me to write you, requesting that you ask the coal dealers of your city to submit bids on five hundred tons of steaming coal, twelve or fifteen of Uncle Sam's modthe Flotilla on its trip South about the 24th of this month. The port at which we will stop for coal will probably depend on which port can offer the best prices, as well as the facilities for loading. Thanking you, I am,

Very respectfully,
J. F. O'MARA,
Asst. Paymaster, U. S. Navy.

The Second Flotilla consists of some twelve of fifteen of Uncle Sam's modern fighting craft of the smaller calibre and a visit from the fleet would be of interest to a great many people. It is believed that all arrangements will be made for the Flotilla to call here, remaining perhaps for a day or two, according to the weather. Additional interest attaches to the visit from the fact that the fleet is in command of Lieutenant Anderson, a former Wilmingtonian, whom it is always a pleasure for the people of this city to receive. Should the Flotilla come to the Wilmington harbor no doubt some form of public or private entertainment would be provided for the distinguished visitors upon the occasion. Definite news as to the coming of the torpedo boats is expected within a day or two.

Robert King, a country darky, arrested by Officer Holt, at Front and Dock streets for being drunk and disorderly, was dismissed with the costs.

EVENTS AT Y. M. C. A.

Another Membership Contest To Be Inaugurated—Meetings on Sunday —Programme of Association Athletic Features.

The next event of general interest to the members of the Y. M. C. A. will be a great effort on the part of the employed force, Board of Directors, and all of the members to increase the membership to about six hundred. These will all be divided into two forces and each will endeavor to secure at least 50 new members during the next 30 days. The plan is to make the limit of new members secured to be 50. The first securing 50 new members will be declared the winner and will be treated to an oyster roast as well as the pleasure of seeing the losing side open the oysters. There will be much fun attached to the contest as well as some earnest work. There are hundreds of young men in the city who should be members of the Association and these will be approached during the next 30 days with a view to securing them as members. Mr. K. W. Price will captain one side and Mr. H. A. Harding the other. Mr. Noe is a young man of great ability and should be heard by every man in the city.

There will be two games of basketball in the gymnasium to-night when the team from the office of the Auditor of Freight Receipts will meet the team from the Freight Claim office, and the team from the office of the Relief Department will contest for supremacy with the team from the office of the Car Accountant. The games will begin at 8:15 sharp.

Rink polo will be introduced next week as soon as the polo sticks arrive. Several of the best skaters in the city are anxious to try this popular game and there is no doubt that it will prove to be exceedingly fascinating to both player and spectator.

The Association football team is working hard to get into shape for its game on Thanksgiving Day when they will meet a team composed of the college men of the city.

BODY OF WILL HARRIS.

Remarkable Verdict by Coroner's Jury in Case of Negro Desperado.

(By Associated Press.)

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 16.—At the inquest held over the body of Will Harris, alias Rufe Lindsay, the negro desperado who was shot to death by a posse of officers and citizens yesterday, the coroner's jury returned the following rather remarkable verdict:

"Said Will Harris, alias Rufe Lindsay, came to his death at the hands of public spirited citizens who at the time were in the fearless and unselfish discharge of a public duty—that the law might be vindicated and justice administered; that said Will Harris, alias Rufe Lindsay, at the time of his death, was resisting arrest and attempting to shoot and kill the citizens above referred to, constituting the posse who were attempting under due authority of law to effect the capture of the said Will Harris, alias Rufe Lindsay. That the citizens above referred to, constituting the posse aforesaid as well as others who participated in the search and spontaneous efforts to bring to justice this incarnate fiend and savage desperado, are entitled to the commendation and thanks of the whole community."

AN INCIDENT OF WEDDING.

Diamond Brooch Lost and Its Singular Return by Negro.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Tarboro, N. C., Nov. 15.—Circulars spread broadcast over town this morning announcing the loss last night of a diamond brooch pin by one of the bridesmaids at the Bellamy-Clark wedding and a reward for the person finding and returning same, of $50, created considerable excitement and finally resulted in the discovery of the pin by a little negro boy, one Roscoe Reed. It was lying under the matting in a carriage. The little negro was very much frustrated over his discovery and made haste to the jeweler where he found it was the pin wanted. The pin was very aluable and belonged to Miss Mary Howard of Tarboro. The boy will receive therecard.

ITALIAN TROUBLES

EFFECTED IN WASHINGTON

(By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov., 16.—After months of negotiations the Italian embassy has finally succeeded in effecting a satisfactory settlement of the labor troubles at Marion, N. C., which culminated in a riot on May 14th in which two Italian laborers were killed, five others wounded and hundreds of Italian workmen were driven into the mountains.

The Italian laborers involved in the trouble were employed by the Spruce Pine Carolina Company, which was engaged in laying tracks for the South and Western Railway Company. Before the pitched battle in which the Italians were killed and wounded, frequent rumors reached Washington of wrongs of Italian laborers and suffering in the camps near Marion. It was said that the men were held practically in bondage, were locked in their shanties at night and prevented from collecting money due them.

Finally a large number of the Italian laborers demanded their wages and announced that they were going to leave. Charges of various sorts were preferred against the men and State officers visited the camps with a number of citizens to investigate the situation.

The investigators arrived in the night and went to the houses where the Italians were quartered. A misunderstanding followed and shots were exchanged. Although it is conceded that some of the Italian laborers fired into the ranks of the officers and citizens, none of the citizens was hurt, but two of the laborers were killed and five injured.

Several of the Italian workmen were arrested and charged with provoking a riot. At this time the Italian embassy, in this city, began a thorough investigation of the troubles. Complaints were filed with the State Department that the Italians were not being dealt with justly, as the local courts in North Carolina were said to be wholly under the influence of the railway. The Department of Justice took an active interest in the case and the result was the discharge of the Italians under arrest and the filing of charges of peonage against the company which employed the men.

The Italian charge, Mr. Montagna, was consulted by representatives of the company and a compromise was affected whereby the corporation paid damages to the families of the two men who were killed and made a satisfactory settlement with the Italians who were injured in the riot. The Spruce Pine Carolina Company was succeeded by the Meadows Company in the construction work and has given the Italian embassy assurance that workmen shall not suffer further mistreatment.

It is expected that the work there will soon be pushed forward again by Neapolitans.

INTERESTING TRIAL YESTERDAY.

Cattle Damaged Property of Resident Who Sued the Owner.

Alleging that cattle passing through an alley adjoining his residence at 511 North Third street, knocked down his fence and trampled over the plants and shrubbery in his yard, Mr. R. B. Davis, yesterday in Justice Borneman's court brought suit against the J. F. Garrell Company, Incorporated, for the recovery of $50 damages. It appears that the cattle were being driven to the butcher pen of the defendant company and got beyond control of the driver. Mr. Garrell, president of the corporation, came into court and said that he was perfectly willing to pay what was reasonable in an adjustment of the claim and it was agreed by both parties to have no law suit over the matter, but to settle the difference amicably. The offices of Justice Borneman as an arbiter were called in and the amount was settled upon at 4 o'clock in a perfectly satisfactory manner. John D. Bellamy, Jr., Esq., appeared as attorney for the defendant.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK.

We have witnessed the past few weeks tremendous cotton receipts at the ports and interior points, notably at Galveston, Houston, New Orleans, Savannah and other places. We have also observed how such a rush of cotton to maket has caused the price to go down. The bears took advantage of it to depress prices. The newspapers in the Southwestern belt state that for several weeks past the marketing of the cotton crop has progressed at a rapid rate, with the result that the movement has beaten all past records. So great has been the rush of cotton to market that traffic on many lines of railroad has become congested.

The New Orleans Picayune makes this reference to the situation:

"This enormous movement does not of necessity prove that the crop is a record-breaker, although it would probably be difficult to convince even the most credulous that it is consistent with a small yield. The fine weather of the past several weeks has enabled picking to be prosecuted with unusual vigor and has facilitated the movement from the gins to the railroads and river landings. Added to these incentives for a large movement is the fact that the price has been fairly tempting to the producers and they have sold their cotton freely, preferring to accept a price which insured a fair profit than to run the risk of what the future might develop.

As a result of recent developments, the cotton trade, which was disposed to lean to moderate crop estimates after the big September storm, and the early October frosts, is now showing a disopsition to run to the other extreme and put faith in large crop estimates. The believers in thirteen million bales and more are daily securing additional adherents, although there is no greater reason for fixing upon such a large figure for the crop now than there was some weeks back. It is true that most of the people now admit that the storm damage was very much less than was at first estimated, but conservative people never did take very much stock in the accounts of enormous storm damage which was current a month ago.

"The one fact which dominates the present situation is the increasing evidence that there will be enough cotton this year to meet the world's requiremnts. That does not mean that the supply will be so great as to cut prices below a paying basis. It is well to remember that the planter never was in so independent a position as he is to-day. If the price drops below what he considers a paying price he will undoubtedly hold his cotton just as he did two years ago. Even if it be conceded that the crop is 13,000,000—and that figure is so far but a guess—it does not follow that the amount of cotton marketed this season—that is, the commercial crop—will reach anywhere near that figure."

Even though the crop should reach 13,000,000 bales, and we have no idea that it will, there is no reason to fear a decline in prices. The best estimates of the probable consumption of American cotton claim that at least 12,500,000 bales will be needed to meet the actual requirements. Moderate prices as compared with the relatively high prices prevailing last year will probably stimulate consumption and encourage the accumulation of large mill stocks. In recent years the end of each season has witnessed the reduction of general stocks to dangerously low figures. A full crop this year while supplying fully spinner's needs, would do little besides in the way of replenishing general stocks.

Our esteemed New Orleans contemporary reminds us that people who remember the alarm that prevailed two years ago when it was first realized that the crop would be a big one, must also realize how the final outcome proved the little cause that actually existed for such alarm. The bumper crop was marketed and absorbed at good prices and the close of the year found general stocks very little larger than they had been at the close of the preceding short-crop year. With such a result of a 14,000,000-bale crop so fresh in everybody's memory it is absurd to become frightened at estimates in the neighborhood of 13,000,000 bales for the present crop The whole situation is in better shape to-day than it was two years ago, and the world can better stand a big crop now than it could then. With the presents plendid outlook for the consumption of American cotton the cotton trade can await with perfect confidence the outcome of the crop, no matter how large it may prove to be.

WANT SOUTHERN RAIL RATES INCREASED.

The railroads in the North which have a long haul by rail to Southern points evidently feel the competition of Southern railroads which get shipments from the steamship lines and have a shorter rail haul to points competed for by the Northern roads. The idea is that the freight rates on part water and part rail shipments are lower than the all rail shipments from Northern points, and as the Northern roads do not desire to raise their rates they want the rates of the Southern roads raised. They have even appealed to the Inter-State Commerce Commission to hlp them out.

The New York Times is moved to note that some of the perplexities surrounding the attempt to regulate rates by a political body are brought out in the complaint of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad just filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission. This, in substance, asks that Southern railroads shall put up their charges on goods carried partly by water to the level of those made by the complaining road for all-rail carriage. The actual rail charges made by the Southern roads are not alleged to be higher, for like distances, than the Baltimore & Ohio rates; it is the lower water rates that cut down the totals. It will be interesting to see on what principle the petition of the Baltimore & Ohio will be sustained.

Yet Southern conservatism, which ostracizes Socialism at home fraternizes with it in the North. What is called the Democratic party in the North is the South plays second fiddle to it. Is there not something in this? It is high time we were beginning to think of it seriously. It would be better experience if the conservative South were to find itself forced to follow the lead of the kind of Democracy that is cropping out in some parts of the North. The South should be the dominating force in the Democratic party. —Savannah News.

J. T. Ebert, of 515 South Sixth street mattress maker, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family. My little girl complained of severe pains in the small of her back, and the kidney secretions were dark and full of brick-dust sediment. We were very much worried about her and when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills I went up to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box and gave them to her. Since using them she has improved wonderfully and is a different child. Her kidney secretions cleared up, she does not complain of her back, and in fact Doan's Kidney Pills gave her new life. We are very much pleased with them and you can use my name and welcome.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

county, met a horrible death on Thursday of last week. The child's body was cremated in the father's barn, which was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. The fire was supposed to have originated from matches which he had carried to the barn to play with A day or two before the child was caught with a handful of matches, striking them to hear them "pop." They were taken from him and he was cautioned to let them alone. On Thursday he secured more and went to the barn to play with them undisturbed. Secluding himself in the loft he began to strike the matches and the hay ignited. The burning hay rapidly cut off his way of escape and he perished.

—Thursday morning about 7:15 o'clock a local A. C. L. freight train, No. 90, at Whitakers, while running backwards, ran over and instantly killed Columbus Dion, colored. Dixon had his back turned to the train and evidently had no idea the train was so near. Dixon kept a restaurant and was returning home after carrying the engineer's breakfast. He was sober and industrious. An inquest was held by Dr. Thigpen, county coroner, who found Dixon's skull badly fractured. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Columbus Dixon was run over and killed by a local freight train, No. 90; further found that it was negligence on the part of the railroad authorities not to notify persons on the rear of the train to give signals of danger to any one on or crossing the track.

—Louisburg, Nov., 15.—Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock as Mr. and Mrs J. M. Nowell, of Harris township, were on their way home from Louisburg, one of the buggy wheels was caught by a fence rail and turned under the horse breaking the shafts from the buggy and throwing Mr. Nowell out, who still held the reins. The horse was frightened and dragged him for some distance when Mrs. Nowell screamed to him to turn loose. The frightened horse ran over the buggy just ahead, in which were their son, Charlie, and daughter, Annie Lou, overturning and reversing the buggy and catching them under it. Miss Annie Lou had her skull fractured and has been unconscious ever since. Her condition is critical. Charlie, aged twenty, was unconscious for some time and was considerably skinned and bruised. Dr. R. F. Yarbrough is attending them.

—Raleigh News and Observer—Sidney Crabtree, a young white man, of this city, is laid up with a bullet wound made by a 32-calibre ball, fired from a pistol in the hands of Marvin M. Bundy, another young whits man, on the street near the dispensary yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. It seems that the trouble began in a quarrel on the street concerning some money that one owed the other. In the fight itself, which ended in the shooting, they clutched and a scuffle ensued in which they moved on down against Ed Denton's store, where Bundy fired twice at his assailant, while Crabtree had his arm around his neck as if trying to throw him down. One ball went through the front of Crabtree's clothing and barely escaped the abdomen. The other took effect in the front part of the right thigh and lodged from half an inch to an inch beneath the skin.

—Winston-Salem, Nov., 15.—Hugh Weaver was shot and killed by Spencer Davis near Clemmons yesterday afternoon. The killing was the result of a dispute over some slabs. Davis who alleges that he shot in selfdefense, has not been arrested. Weaver stated to a friend yesterday that he proposed to kill Davis before sunset. The party to whom he made the threat repeated it to Davis, who was hauling timber by way of Weaver's home. Davis thanked the man who gave him the information, but said that he proposed to continue hauling lumber. As Davis passed the home of Weaver in the afternoon he discovered Weaver sitting down by the roadside hilding a shot gun. Davis rolled off his wagon on the opposite side of Weaver and begged the latter not to shoot. Weaver fired, but Davis dodged and the load missed him. Davis then drew a pistol and shot Weaver three times. Weaver arose and started to the house, but fell in his yard, where he expired. The deceased leaves a wife an son. Davis is a man of family.

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Alban's, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy's drug store. Price 50c.

Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no others. **

OUR BUSINESS
This Season
Has Been an Agreeable Surprise. to Us.

Considering the short cotton crops in the country, the low prices prevailing in the lumber market and the scarcity of money throughout the country, we were very much afraid that we would have a very large fall off in business this season which we did not feel that we could afford to accept.

We double our esolution, bought heavier in every department, made profits smaller and felt that we would make an effort to outdo any previous year.

The immense stock of goods that we carry, extra values we are offering with the additional help of the best kind, our sales now have run away ahead of last season.

We have hundreds of customers, but we want more.

In our store is arranged a splendid premium department that belongs directly to us.

These premiums are in charge of a young lady who keeps them in perfect order and redeems your stamp book or your punch card with pleasure.

We do not feel as if it is something given away. Simply this; we give you what others give us. We pay cash and get the discount and give it to you. Ask to see the premiums we have to give and we feel sure you will find it to your advantage to buy goods from us.

Compare our prices in any line and you will find them much less than those of our competitors.

In our millinery department we trim all hats we sell free and give and give you the lining and box extra.

Our cloak and fur department has been a wonderful success.

We think we sell as many cloaks as all the rest of the town put together. There are two reasons why we should do so, first; we carry the stock which makes it worth your while to examine before buying elsewhere. Second: our prices are not matched. If ladies are looking around to buy a cloak and get the prices first from other stores, e sell the cloak, and also the furs. This line is an elegant one. Our stock in furs runs as low as 98c each for fur collars. We are also offering clipped Cony Furs with nine tails in black at $2.25 and in brown at $2.98 which is the natural colors with no dye. The sable fox with two large tails we are showing at $5.50 and the double fox without the heads at $9.75. We have these in collarette shapes, with head and two tails hanging down the back and two whole foxes for the front. We have a full assortment in fur collars and muffs from $4 a set to $24 a set. Also a beautiful line of children's furs with collars and muffs to match, as low as $2.25 a set up to $8 a set.

Our fur department is stocked from the best houses in the United States and none of them are cheap, shoddy furs, but well made and in the latest and prettiest shapes. Examine our stock and it will surprise you to see how cheap they are.

The young ladies in the millinery department would be glad to have you see their line of hats, ribbons and velvets. They are very busy but we can take good care of you if you care to give us a trial. There is not a day passes that we do not receive new goods in this department. New hats direct from the factory, new velvets in all colors. We have a beautiful velvet at 75c a yard, a very good one at 50c a yard and up, a splendid assortment of ribbons at all prices. We are showing a real nice plaid ribbon at 10c, 15c, 19c and 25c a yard; No 100 Dreden ribbon at 10c and we handle a big line of fine ribbons width 200 which we sell for 19c, 25c and 35c a yard. Also a special line of black ribbon.

In our ladies' and children's underwear department you will find almost everything from the tiniest infant's wrapper up to the largest No. 9 vest made. To buy underwear we will ask you to see our line. We control the Mentor line for this city, also the Snug Fit line and we have a full assortment of woolen and cotton union suits and red and white flannel vests and pants.

Ask for stamps with every purchase and spend your money where you can get the best value.

Action in Massachusetts Against American Fire Insurance Company.

Boston, Mass., Nov., 16.—A temporary injunction prohibiting the American Fire Insurance Company from transacting business in the State of Massachusetts was issued by Judge Morton in the Supreme Court today. The injunction was issued as a result of a bill of information filed by Attorney General Dana Malone, who later will ask for the appointment of a receiver. The American Fire Insurance Company is one of the oldest fire insurance companies in America. It suffered heavily as a result of the earthquake at San Francisco. Since the fire and earthquake at San Francisco the company has paid out $294,613. The attorney general's action is based on the ground that the company is insolvent.

The negroes will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

COLLISION IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Two Men Killed and Three Others Injured.

(By Wire to The Monring Star).

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 16.—Two brakemen named Lloyd and Chesney were killed in a head-on collision between a freight and a passenger train on the Southern Railway near Dent, S. C., to-day, their bodies being burned beyond recognition. Conductor Triplett had a leg broken and Engineer Snipes and his fireman were injured.

AN ANCIENT PYRAMID.

The tomb of the Christian in Algeria is a pyramid on the summit of a hill more than 700 feet high, at the edge of the sea. It dates back to before the time of St. Paul, having been built by order of Juba II., the king of Mauretania, as a burying place for himself and his wife, Cleopatra, the daughter of Cleopatra and Mark Antony. The only daughter of Juba and his wife was Drusilla, who married Festus, the governor of Judaea in the time of St. Paul. The tomb can be entered by a low doorway beneath one of the four false doors. These have moldings on them of a cruciform shape and may account for the title, "The Tomb of the Christian." The passage within the pyramid winds round and eventually leads to two chambers shut off from it by folding doors, which can be moved up and down by levers. The tomb must have been rifled of all it contained centuries ago, though some think that by excavating in a downward direction it might still be possible to discover the burying place of the king and queen, supposing the two chambers, like the false doors outside, to be a blind. Doubtless the younger Cleopatra had brought the idea of making a royal mausoleum in the shape of a pyramid from Egypt. Portions of a marble statue of Egyptian design were found at Cherchel, suggesting that an Egyptian colony may once have existed there. There are two other similar monuments in Algeria, in the provinces of Oran and Constantine respectively, the latter being considerably older than the tomb of the Christian, which, however, is the only one referred to in ancient writings.—Autocar.

THE ELDER TREE.

Once Held In High Esteem as a Cure For Epilepsy.

Although tradition tells us that it was on an elder tree that Judas hanged himself, great virtue has long been attributed to it as a cure for epilepsy. The origin of this belief may be found in the following quotation from an old book of charms:

"In the month of October, a little before full moon, pluck a twig of elder and cut the cane that is between two of its knees, or knots, in nine pieces. Bind these pieces in a piece of linen, hang this by a thread about the neck so that they touch the spoon of the heart, or the sword formed cartilage, and that they may more firmly stay in their place bind them thereon with a linen or silken roller wrapped around the body till the thread break of itself. The thread being broken and the roller removed the charm is not to be touched at all with the bare hands, but should be taken hold of by some instrument and buried in a place that nobody may touch it."

Of course unless the instructions were followed strictly a complete cure could not be assured. There is another superstition about the elder which doubtless has saved many a boy a stout caning—namely, that it hinders a child's growth if used as an instrument of punishment.—Sunday Magazine.

Walking to Health.

When there is no organic weakness which is aggravated by the exertion it is the easiest and pleasantest thing to walk right into health. Of course there is no virtue in a dawdling walk. The slow and languid dragging of one foot after the other, which some people call walking, would tire an athlete; it utterly exhausts a weak person, and that is the reason why many delicate people think they cannot walk. To derive any benefit from the exercise it is necessary to walk with a light, elastic step, which swings the weight of the body so easily from one leg to the other that its weight is not felt and which produces a healthy glow, showing that the sluggish blood is stirred to action in the most remote veins. This sort of walking exhilarates the whole body, gives tone to the nerves and produces just that sort of healthful fatigue which encourages sound, restful sleep.

Civilization Does Not Enfeeble.

We need not have the slightest fear that civilized man is going to become degenerate from city dwelling or any of the other strains of civilization. Contrary to popular belief, the white man of today has a lower death rate, a higher average length of life, is taller, heavier and stronger than any of his predecessors or any known race of savages. Almost any company of American and English soldiers will contain men who can outrun, outwrestle and outswim the best athletes of any native tribe.—Success Magazine.

Should Help Himself.

"Yes," young Mr. Timmid admitted; "I've always been bashful among the girls."

"But why should you be?" asked Miss Yern encouragingly.

"I can't help myself."

"Gracious!" she exclaimed, pursing up her lips. "If you don't help yourself, how can you expect to get any?"

Speculation.

Experience proves that those who gain money rapidly by speculation almost never keep it, and when they have lost it they are infinitely worse off than they were before.—Success Magazine.

NIGHT ROBES.

They Were Once Very Gorgeous and Worn In the Daytime.

In the middle ages night robes, as a general thing, were unknown luxuries.

Under the Tudors royalty and nobility had them made of silk or velvet, and, as the old books say, "hence no washing was necessary."

More luxurious still was one owned by Queen Bess. It was of black velvet, fur lined, and greatly offset by flowing borders of silk lace. And in 1568 her majesty gave orders that George Brodigman should deliver "threescore and six best sable skynnes, to furnish us a night gown." Four years later her highness orders the delivery of "twelve yards of purple velvet, friezed on the back syde, with white and russet silke," for a night gown for herself and also orders the delivery of fourteen yards of murry damask for the "makynge of a night gowne" for some one else.

Night gowns for ladies of a later period were called "nyght vails." In Queen Anne's time it was the fashion to wear them over the customary dress in the streets in the daytime, when out on a pleasure walk. And, as was fitting, ladies who indulged in nightcaps had them also made of silk or velvet, with "much pretty garnishing of lace and glittering cords," and the fair ones made presentation of costly caps to each other as tokens of respect or affection.

MARINE TURTLES.

How They Are Stripped of Their Shells While Alive.

The shells shipped from the Colon district are taken from turtles caught on the Lagarto and San Blas coasts of the Caribbean sea during the months of May, June, July and August, when they approach the shore to deposit eggs, which are laid on the sandy beaches above high water mark at night. Holes are dug about one and a half feet deep and the eggs deposited therein. Generally about three layings are made during a period of nine weeks. The eggs are lightly covered with sand and left to be hatched out by the heat of the sun. The turtles are caught either while on shore or in the water by means of nets.

As a rule, they are killed immediately after being caught, cleaned and the shell frame washed with sand. But on the San Blas coast the Indians do not kill them, but at once proceed to remove the shell by subjecting the turtles to great heat, afterward throwing the turtles back into the sea. By the application of heat the successive plates of shell come off very easily.

Turtles caught in these waters vary in size from one to four and a half feet long, with a maximum weight of 150 pounds, and the average weight of shell obtained from each is from six to seven pounds. The commercial value of tortoise shell depends upon the thickness and size of the plates rather than upon the brilliancy of the colors.

ARTIFICIAL WARMTH.

Its Use an Inherited Habit and a Sign of Luxury.

With the big, restless, energetic world outside of this tropical belt, however, the matter of keeping warm is ever present, troublesome and expensive, throughout half of each passing year.

As a matter of fact, the world of humanity dwelling in stoveland never has been in all the ages really and comfortably warm in winter. It is largely our own fault. Mankind is the only animal which employs fire in the effort to survive the cold of the winters. The hardy lower animals do not need it, however much their luxuriously enervated representatives, the dog and the cat, may enjoy it when they have a chance.

Ancient man only got himself rid of his provident coat of hair and his sufficent latent heat when he began to loaf around the family cooking stove and absorb the intoxicating comfort of artificial warmth. This faraway ancestor is responsible for the fact that the present day human being, outside of the belt aforesaid, is obliged to keep close to a thermometer registering nearly or quite 70 degrees F. from October to May, besides which he must needs wear extra clothing. This also is an inherited habit.

A traveler west once asked a half naked Indian in midwinter how he managed to stand the weather. The Indian replied: "Your face no got a coat. It no cold. Indian face all over."—National Magazine.

VIRTUE IN COPPER.

The Metal Is a Death Dealer to All Disease Germs.

"Copper is a marvelous preventive of disease. If we returned to the old copper drinking vessels of our forefathers, typhoid epidemic would disappear."

The speaker, a filtration expert, took a copper cent from his pocket.

"Examine this cent under the microscope," he said, "and you will find it altogether free from disease germs. Examine gold and silver coins, and you will find them one wriggling and contorting germ mass. Yet copper coins pass through dirtier hands than gold and silver ones. You'd think they ought to be alive with micro-organisms. But no. Copper kills germs. Diphtheria and cholera cultures smeared on a copper cent die in less than two hours.

"They have many cholera epidemics in China, but certain towns are always immune. These towns keep their drinking water in great copper vessels. Travelers have tried to buy these vessels, for they are beautiful, but the villagers will not sell them. They have a superstition that their health and welfare depend on their retention. I wish all superstitions were as true and salutary as that."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

ODD COURTS MARTIAL.

Solemn Farces That Have Been Enacted In the British Navy.

It is a rule in the British navy that when a ship is cast away or otherwise lost a court martial must sit in order to apportion the blame. Sometimes these courts really try and condemn those that are held to be responsible. At other times their duties are, from the very nature of the catastrophe, more or less nominal.

Thus, when the Serpent was lost off the Spanish coast, a court martial assembled and solemnly "tried" three ordinary bluejackets, the sole survivors, although they of course had no more to do with the error in navigation which led up to the catastrophe than the man in the moon.

A similar solemn farce was enacted after the loss of the Captain in the bay of Biscay, when 483 officers and men lost their lives. In this case a gunner named James May, one of the eighteen who escaped from the wreck, was the nominal "culprit." The verdict was that the loss of the ship was due to instability and faulty construction. This really amounted to a vote of censure on Mr. Cowper Coles, the designer, but as he went down with the ungainly monster he had created he was beyond the reach of either blame or praise.

On another occasion a small "middy" of thirteen years of age was put upon his trial, and once, it is said, a court martial assembled on a cat, which chanced to be the sole living thing found aboard a derelict frigate.

LIVING SECOND HAND.

It Is Quite a Common Thing In New York City.

Half the people of New York live second hand—that is, they dress second hand, furnish their houses second hand and wear secondhand jewelry.

There are stunning looking young women who wear nothing but Paris gowns all the year round. They cannot afford to go to Paris for such clothing, and they won't have anything that isn't "good style." They dress almost entirely out of the secondhand stores on Sixth and Seventh avenues, where anything from a hat to a pair of silk stockings is offered for sale at a third its original value. They would rather appear a trifle shabby and very effective than brand new and "shoppy."

One woman noted for her "good style" and richness of apparel buys all her frocks at a secondhand establishment and then has them dyed black to make them look new. A little bride who hates that new look which the average bridal suit possesses fitted out her entire apartment through advertisements of sales of secondhand furniture by private parties. Everything from her sideboard to her rugs looks like a family heirloom. There are many articles published in the papers and magazines on "How to Live Well on Nothing a Year," but the New Yorker could write a whole volume on "How to Live Swell on Nothing a Year" if he chose to.—New York Press.

A Queer Fact About Vision.

In the eye itself certain things may go on which give us wrong sensations, which, although not truly illusions, are very much like them. Thus, when we suddenly strike our heads or faces against something in the dark we see "stars," or bright sparks, which we know are not real lights, though they are quite as bright and sparkling as if they were. When we close one eye and look straight ahead at some word or letter in the middle of this page, for example, we seem to see not only the thing we are looking at, but everything else immediately about it and for a long way on each side. But the truth is there is a large round spot somewhere near the point at which we are looking in which we see nothing. Curiously enough, the existence of this blind spot was not discovered by accident, and nobody every suspected it until Mariotte reasoned from the construction of the eyeball that it must exist and proceeded to find it.

Man Against Horse.

A man (Shrubb) has run ten miles in 50 minutes 40 seconds; another man (Hutchens) has run 300 yards in 30 seconds; another man (George) has run a mile in 4 minutes 12⅘ seconds. Of all running records this last appears most unapproachable, and it seems likely to stand for a very long time. Men like Shrubb, Bacon and "Deerfoot," who have covered very close on twelve miles in the hour, could certainly hold their own with most carriage horses over a good road. If the gait chosen were walking instead of running, the quadruped would be badly worsted.—Grand Magazine.

Not Quite a Tempest.

A young gentleman with an unmusical voice insisted upon singing at a social gathering.

"What does he call that?" inquired a disgusted guest.

"'The Tempest,' I think," answered another.

"Don't be alarmed," said an old sea captain present. "That's no tempest. It is only a squall and will soon be over."

Sarcasm.

POLICE OF PARIS.

How the Third Brigade Spies Upon the Whole Force.

Vance Thompson describes in Everybody's the famous Third brigade of the Paris police, whose business is to supervise the police. It is composed of an officer de paix, a principal inspector, a brigadier, five subbrigadiers and about seventy-five picked men. About half are assigned to watch the patrolmen. He is a bold policeman who commits any of the little sins dear to the patrolman's heart. There is hardly a chance that he will not be detected in time. Reprimand follows, after that fine and lastly dismissal. There is always a long "waiting list" of candidates, sound young fellows fresh from the army, and the city can choose its new servants among the best.

The other half of the Third brigade is engaged in work of a more typically Latin kind. It investigates all complaints made against the patrolmen by chiefs and citizens, and it maintains a regular system of espionage upon the private lives of all policemen.

"This, of course, is the Latin way of doing things," writes Mr. Thompson, "Wrong as it may be in principle, it serves to weed out the men of bad character and bad habits and bad associations, and it prevents that monstrous alliance of the police and the lawbreakers."

The Third brigade in turn is watched by a smaller body of detectives, who report directly to the prefect of police.

DESERT THIRST.

Its Five Phases, Two of Which Mean Certain Death.

Half of the people dying from desert thirst perish in thirty-six hours, a quarter within forty-eight or fifty hours and all others of which the history is known within eighty hours.

The phenomena of desert thirst may be arranged in three stages—namely, normal thirst, functional derangement and structural degeneration. These three stages are made up of five phases—the clamorous, cotton mouth phase, the shriveled tongue, the blood sweat and the living death. There is hope in saving the lives of the victims whose thirst is diagnosed in the first three phases, but for the fourth and fifth death is certain.

The clamorous phase of desert thirst may be relieved by water, or in some instances fruit acids or similar substances. The second, or cotton mouth, phase should be treated by giving the victim quarts of water taken in small sips and flooding his body. Practically the same treatment may be applied to the third, or shriveled tongue, phase, with the addition of a medicine to counteract the fever and a tonic for the heart. Water would only prove a damage in the fourth, or blood sweat, phase, and even if it were possible to satisfy the thirst of the victim his mental condition would never be clear. Death from thirst is often painless.—Los Angeles Times.

The Valley of Quillota.

"Whoever," says Charles Darwin in his "Voyage of the Beagle," "called Valparaiso the valley of paradise must have been thinking of Quillota." Quillota is a thriving town twenty-six miles from Valparaiso in a northeasterly direction. Any person, he declares, who sees only the country around Valparaiso, barren of vegetation, would never imagine that there were such picturesque spots in Chile. "As soon as we reached the brow of the sierra the valley of Quillota was immediately under our feet. The prospect was one of remarkable natural luxuriance. The valley is very broad and quite flat and is thus easily irrigated in all parts. The little square gardens are crowded with orange and olive trees and every sort of vegetable."

According to Contract.

A man who was very miserly hoarded up his stacks of hay year after year in the hope of making double the price he was offered for them. A well known hay and straw buyer in the district one day asked the price of a stack. An enormous price was asked, which the buyer accepted.

"How about the terms of settlement?" asked the old miser.

"Well, you see," said the buyer, "my terms are to settle when I fetch the last load away."

"That's a bargain," said the miser, slapping the other's hand. The old chap watched every load go away except the last, and that the buyer never did fetch away.—London Standard.

No Salute For a Dirty Prince.

The crown prince of Germany had as a child a great dislike of being washed. The emperor tried various means to cure him, and he at last hit on the right one. The young prince came running to him one day in a great rage, saying the sentry had not saluted him as he passed.

"To be sure," said the emperor. "I gave orders they were not to salute a dirty prince, but only a clean one." The child's pride was hurt, and he took to the bath.

He Must Have Had Faith.

The church was packed, even the aisles lined with chairs. Just before the benediction the thoughtful clergyman, who loved order as he did the gospel, thus admonished his hearers: "In passing out please remain seated until the ushers have removed the chairs from the aisles."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

The Credulity of Men and the Gospel of the Parasites.

The credulity of a multitude of more or less thrifty people, who, in their mania for money, are ready to believe that they can amass fortunes overnight, makes them the easy prey of a swarm of parasites who infest the financial districts. The gospel of the parasites who build air castles for their victims and real castles for themselves is terse:

"A fool is born every minute."

Posing as bankers and brokers, the financial parasites scour the country for the fools and then exercise their nimble wits in devising schemes to accomplish the partition. How many millions of dollars are parted from the fools every year may be conjectured from the millions of dollars spent by the pseudo-financiers in advertising. The bulk of the financial advertising in the leading newspapers of the country is intended for the fools. Another index of the richness of the harvest of parting money from the fools is the occasional exposure of some particularly glaring and bungled imposture, when the calculable "swag" runs into the hundreds of thousands, if not into millions. But these frauds are seldom exposed, for the victims are usually as anxious as the victimizers to escape the limelight of publicity. Most men prefer to lose thir money rather than hear their neighbors quote from the parasites' gospel, "A fool and his money are soon parted."—Success.

Overreached.

Old Joe, a farmer, was noted for the many ways he had of skimping and saving. One day he hired a big country boy to help him with his work. The boy reported for duty at 5:30 o'clock in the morning, and Old Joe sat him down to breakfast. After the lad had finished the meal the sharp old farmer said, "What do you say if we eat dinner while we are at it?" As the boy agreed, they fell to and ate a little more. Then, seeing that the youngster could eat no more, Old Joe suggested, "Suppose we finish up and eat supper too." "All right," assented the lad, and he managed to swallow another crust of bread. "Now let's get to work," shouted the gleeful farmer, thinking of the saving in meals he had made. "No," returned the boy, "I never work after supper. A man's time is his own then."—London Times.

They Waited Well.

A large audience once gathered in Baltimore to hear Professor Sylvester read a unique original poem of 400 lines, all rhyming with the name Rosalind. He had appended to the poem a large number of explanatory footnotes, which he said he would read first. When at last he had done so he looked up at the clock and was horrified to find that he had kept the audience an hour and a half before beginning to read the poem they had come to hear. The astonishment on his face was answered by a burst of good humored laughter from the audience, and then, after begging all his hearers to feel at perfect liberty to leave if they had engagements, he read the Rosalind poem.

No Mistake.

The editor was apologizing over the telephone for an annoying typographical error in his paper.

"In our account of the meeting at which you were chairman last night, colonel," he said, "we tried to say, 'Following is a detailed report of the proceedings,' but it appeared in print, as perhaps you have noticed, 'Following is a derailed report,' and so forth. Mistakes of that kind, you know, will"—

"It may have been an accident," interrupted the man at the other end of the wire, "but it wasn't a mistake. You sidetracked most of the report."—Chicago Tribune.

Antismoking Edicts.

Strenuous efforts have been made in times past to stamp out smoking. Among the rules of an English school in 1629 it was laid down that "a master must be a man of grave behavior, neither papist nor Puritan, no haunter of alehouses and no puffer of tobacco." In Turkey, where the pipe is now omnipresent, former sultans made smoking a crime, and offenders were punished by having their pipes thrust into their noses, while in Russia a royal edict ordered the noses of the smokers to be cut off.

—Prof. R. D. W. Connor, of the Department of education on Friday delivered an educational address at an educational rally at King Hiram School in Cumberland county.

—The plant of the Empire Steel and Iron Works, which is situated at Greensboro, is to be torn down and the machinery shipped to Pennslyvania. Work was stopped at the plant three years ago owing to the lack of ore in that section. The ore beds at Ore Hill furnished the supply for a long time.

—Zebulon is a new town in Wake county, on the Raleigh and Pamlico Railroad. Work will begin next Monday on a hosiery mill there, an the Raleigh Telephone Company has just run a line to the new town. The Postal Telegraph Company has its wires nearly there and will open an office. The Pioneer Inn will be ready for guests next week.

—Goldsboro, N. C., Nov., 15.—It is learned here that a dangerous insane man is at large probably in Wayne county, who escaped from officers. Deputy Sheriff Williams and Mr. Arvil Sugg were conveying Mr. W. D. Sugg to the Central Hospital for the Insane at Raleigh and while on the way Sugg jumped from the carriage at Button's Branch, near the Wayne county line, and got completely away. He is considered as being dangerous.

—Carthage, Nov., 15.—Mr. B. S. Maness, the well known contractor of this place, died at his home here last night of pneumonia. Mr. Maness was the late candidate for sheriff on the republican ticket, and it was while making the campaign that he contracted a cold. On last Saturday morning he was taken suddenly with a chill which resulted in a severe case of pneumonia. Mr. Maness was 36 years old.

—Mt. Airy, Nov., 15.—On last Monday night John Morane, an Italian stone cutter, went to the home of Mrs. Sandor, who lives at Flat Rock quarry and whose husband is away from home and attempted to criminally assault her. Her screams brought some of the neighbors to the scene, but owing to the fact that the lady in question could not skeak English the could not secure the facts. Afterward a warrant was secured for the perpetrator of the deed but Morane had left these parts.

—Between midnight and 1 o'clock Thursday morning the gin house on the farm of Mrs. L. W. Whichard, two miles west of Greenville, on the Tarboro road, was destroyed by fire. No ginning had been done there in several years but the building was used for storing crops. There was in it at the time of the fire ten bales of seed cotton, a large lot of cotton seed and a quantity of fodder, besides baskets and farm tools, all of this being destroyed. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. There was some insurance on the building but none on the cotton.

—Salisbury, N. C., Nov., 15.—To the great surprise of all it is learned here tonight that the shortage of W. S. Gray night money clerk for the Southern Express Company, who absconded from Salisbury Monday, will reach $30,000. The money was in currency and made quite a bulk. It is now believed that Gray, who was but seventeen years of age, had one or more confederates at the business. Detectives have been employed on the case, but no trace of the defaulting clerk has been found. He was bonded, but it is learned that the loss will exceed the bond. Besides the money, a number of articles of jewelry are issing.

—Mr. Emerson Batchelor, who lives a few miles west of Nashville, suffered a heavy loss Saturday night when fire destroyed a tobacco barn wherein he had stored about nine thousand pounds of seed cotton. The fire was not discovered until after midnight, when Mrs. Batchelor awoke to find her room brightly lighted from the reflections of the fire raging at the barn, which was only a short distance away. With the assistance of his neighbors Mr. Batchelor secceeded in saving about three thousand pounds of his cotton. There had been no occasion for fire around the barn during the day and it is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

—Washington, Nov., 15.—Mr. B. F. Farren, of J. S. Farren & Co., of Baltimore who own and operate the oyster canning factory in this city, was here the first of the week making preparations to operate their large canning factory here this season. He left for his home in Baltimore this morning, leaving behind him the impression that the factory would can oysters this season. The factory employs a large number of employes, and the determination to again open the factory means that many dollars will be placed in the pockets of the working class. The oysters this season are far above the average and the supply so far is in excess of that of last season.

IT'S IN THE DRAFT.

The secret of the fuel-saving qualities of this Buck's hot blast heater lies in the draft construction. It is so made as to allow large quantities of heated air to pass over the upper surface of the burning coal, thus supplying oxygen to the rising gasses, which are then converted into heating power.

Simple, isn't it? And yet it's new principle in stove building—not to be found elsewhere.

This stove will reduce your coal bill nearly one-third.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, Nov. 16.—The cotton market reached another new high level during today's trading and was again active with sales report of 450,000 bales and the close was steady at a net advance of 5 to 15 points. The opening was one point higher to 8 points lower, the loss being due to lower cables and clear and somewhat cold weather in the South. The local professionals seemed to be against the market and there was more or less general selling but four or five brokers being active buyers, and after the weight of the early offerings had been off the market prices rallied on the reports of firm spot markets in the South and continued light offerings by interior holders. After an advance of several points the market sagged off again but was rallied sharply in the afternoon by reports of a very low barometer in the southwest, and bullish spot reports from New Orleans. This advance carried the market to 10.32 for Jaunary and 10.43 for March, or about 19 to 20 points net higher, but was followed by realizing, under which prices eased off 6 or 7 points toward the close. Southern spot markets was officially reported 1-8 to 1-2 higher and private wires received during the day reported that even the low grades were being more firmly held as a result of the advance in futures. The expectation of a severe storm in the southwest was undoubtedly one of the important factors in the afternoon's advance.

The total receipts of cotton at the ports to-day 60,642 bales against 65,181 last week and 76,434 last year. For the week 410,000 bales against 422,845 last week and 391,919 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 11,925 bales against 15,268 last year and at Houston 19,331 bales against 17,252 last year.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Nov. 16.—The dry goods trade was quiet generally for the day but the movement of goods on order was heavy. The jobbing trade has been fairly good for two days although business is restricted in several directions by the scarcity of merchandise. About 1,000 bales of goods have been sold for export to the Red Sea ports this week. The demand for heavy goods is somewhat better but at shaded prices for delivery beginning after the turn of the year.

—Norfolk, Va., Nov. 14.—The Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., author and playwright, who was here to-day with Mrs. Dixon, en route to the Horse Island Gun Club, on the North Carolina coast, to spend some time shooting ducks, said that he would not go to London to witness the introduction of his play "The Clansman" and "The One Woman," until after he had completed his new novel "The Traitor," on which he is now working. He expects to complete the work in January. He will then spend three months on the Continent, introducing his plays and resting. Mr. Dixon came to Norfolk last night from Glouscester county where he had been shooting quail.

Lexington, Nov. 14.—To-day in the mayor's court there was quite a sensational encounter between H. Clay Grubb and Walter Kirsch over remarks by Kirsch on the witness stand, which were to the effect that he knew some negroes in Boone township that were better than some white folks he knew out there. Grubb rushed at him and was restrained with difficulty from hitting him. Kirsch fled from the room. He is a northerner lately come to the county and has ideas on social equality that vary from those in vogue here. Grubb was fined $5 for contempt of court.

—Greensboro, Nov., 15.—Parties here who are acquainted with Nat Crump, the Davidson county outlaw, who shot Grubb and later fired into another crowd of white men, putting rifle balls through two men's hats, are suggesting that the negro who killed the Asheville police officers and two negroes on Tuesday night is Crump, and not Will Harris. Crump, like Harris, escaped from the penitentiary, but unlike the Mecklenburg outlaw, was open and bold in his lawlessness, and always a crack shot with a rifle. After breaking out of the penitentiary Crump went back to Davidson, but a reward of $1,000 offered by Clay Grubb caused him to go west, and the last time heard from, Crump was somewhere in the Asheville section. As an evidence of Crump's fine marksmanship with a rifle, a gentleman here from Davidson, relates that in Crump's last villianous waylaying of a party of men in a buggy, he declared he had not wanted to kill them, but only to scare them, so simply shot through their hats, just above the head. That is where two of the men found the damage done.

—Tarboro, N. C., Nov., 15.—Circulars spread broadcast over town this morning announce the loss last night of a diamond brooch pin by one of the bridesmaids at the Bellamy-Clark wedding and a reward to the person finding and returning same of fifty dollars, created considerable excitement and finally resulted in the discovery of the pin by a little negro boy, one Roscoe Reed. It was lying under the matting in a carriage. The little negro was very much flustrated over his discovery and made haste to the jeweler where he found it was the pin wanted. The pin was very valuable and belonged to Miss Mary Howard, of Tarboro. The boy will receive the reward.

ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MO ST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.

To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually setled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Springs Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

President Visited Canal Works Yesterday and Saw Men Digging Waterway.

WENT INTO CULEBRA CUT

Heavy Rain Was Pouring and President Risked Danger of Landslide From High Walls—Saw All Phases of Operations.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Panama, Nov. 16.—Mr. Roosevelt, who stopped at the Tivoli Hotel last night, started at 7 o'clock this morning with Mrs. Roosevelt and the other members of his party to make an examination of the Culebra Cut. The weather was overcast, threatening rain. At 8:30 the Presidential train arrived at Pedro Mguel where some steam shovels were at work. At this point in the cut the peculiar soil conditions have resulted in more or less frequent landslides and this fact was brought to the President's attention. President Roosevelt descended from his train and climbed upon one of the shovels taking a seat alongside Engineer Gray, whom he subjected to a searching fire of questions regarding the work. Engineer Gray took the opportunity, on behalf of himself and the other engineers to declare that unlike the railroad engineers, they were not paid for overtime. The President promised to look into the matter. He stayed on the steam shovel about 20 minutes. By this time it was raining hard.

President Roosevelt told Chief Engineer Stevens that he wanted to see all the works in connection with the excavation, even to the temporary laying of tracks. With this in view they boarded a work train near Pedro Miguel and went to the next point where steam shovels were at work. Here there was no danger of landslides.

The Presidential train continued on the regular line toward Panama. The work of the steam shovels was observed and the President made a detour to examine the site of the Pedro Miguel lock. H shook hands with all the Americans he met. At 9:25 the President entered the deep portion of Culebra cut, his train going slowly in order that he might observe the workings of the drill machines and shovels. One shovel was decorated with a sign reading, "We will do our best to Help You Build It."

The President spent some time in the deepest portion of the cut, where last Sunday 20 tons of explosives were used to throw down 35,000 cubic yarls of material.

The rain was now coming down in torrents and the water poured in rivulets down the funnel-haped sides of the cut. Several charges of dynamite were exploded in order that the President might see the effect, after which he went back to his own train.

WOMEN CALLED BARBARIANS

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Tears and hysterical denials on the part of women delegates who had heard themselves called "barbarians and murderesses" marked the close of the convention of the American Humane Association last night. The women for half an hour had listened patiently while J. Howard Moore, speaking on "The Cost of a Skin" bitterly denounced the wearing of furs and bird carcasses. Adornment of such character was evident in all parts of the hall.

Apparently unable to listen further two women finally left the convention hall. Another burst into tears while the husband of a fourth arose to his feet to defend the action of women who wore fur pieces.

"Nobody but a barbarian would adorn her head with the caraess of a bird or the heads of grinning weasels," said Mr. Moore. "Such things appeal only to the vulgarians. Such a woman is about as attractive as if adorned with a string of dried skulls. She excites pity for she is a murderess Furs are the most costly of luxuries, for because to secure them men must be the most conscienceless and inhuman. When I think that in this day of advanced education and supposed refinement, brutalities such as are necessary to secure the furs of these little animals are practiced, I am heartily ashamed of the race to which I belong."

Dr. WilliamO. Stillman was re-elected president of the National Association, Mrs. Mary F. Lowell, of Pennsylvania, secretary and James M. Brown of Toledo, vice president.

SUGAR TRUST IS ON TRIAL

ACCEPTED $26,000 REBATE

Judge Parker and Other Distinguished Counsel Opposing Government —Railroad Has Already Been Convicted of Granting Rebate.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 16.—The so-called Sugar Trust, or the American Sugar Refining Company, was brought to trial for the first time on a charge of rebating to-day. The specific indictment charges the corporation with knowingly violating the Elkins law in accepting rebates on shipments by the New York Ventral and Hudson River Railroad Company in the Spring of 1903, amounting to $26,000. The case is on trial before Judge Holt, of the United States Circuit Court. For granting the same rebates, the New York Central was convicted yesterday in the same court.

The sugar company, it is charged, accepted the $26,000 in rebates shortly after the passage of the Elkins law the shipments made just before Congress passed the law. There are several other indictments against the company, it is understood, also for violations of the Elkins law.

The defendant company was represented by a rather imposing array of counsel.

The lawyers are Joseph Choate, former Justice Alton B. Parker, John E. Parsons and Tompkins McIlvain. The government is represented by United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson and Assistant United States District Attorney Henry A Wise.

The proceedings were marked by many objections and several exceptions to the rulings of Judge Holt by counsel for the sugar company.

Testimony of a number of witnesses for the government was heard, including Fred E. Hearst, Assistant Auditor George T. Roberts, Lowell Palmer, W. E. Foster and other present or former employes of the company. The chief of thes witnesses was Mr. Palmer, who for a long time served as the head of the company's traffic department. His testimony was practically a repitition of that in the New York Central case in which he also testified.

MAN KILLED IN PRIZE FIGHT.

Harry Lewis, of Philadeuphia, Deals Brutal Blow to Canadian.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov., 16.—Mike Ward, the pugilist, of Sarnia, Ont., died this morning at 6:45 as the result of a knock out in a fight last night with Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia.

Ward died of cerebrial hemorrhage, according to the physicians who attended him. Excepting a very brief period of consciousness, Ward was unconscious until his death. Four physicians worked over him throughout the night with priests in the room ready to administer the last rites of the church. Harry Lewis, referee Ed Ryan, of Detroit, and Frank O'Brien, Lewis' trainer, were placed under arrest.

Lewis and his friends assert that it was not the knockout blow which caused Ward's death but the heavy fall to the floor that fo'lowed it. Others assert that the terrific final blow received by Ward caused his collapse and death. He had just risen from the floor after taking a count of nine seconds following a hard swing on his jaw. Lewis swung again to his jaw and Ward dropped to the floor and was unconscious when the count of ten was finished.

COAST ARTILLERY SERVICE.

General Hall Recommends Encampment With Infantry and Cavalry.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov., 16.—Brigadier General William P. Hall, in his annual report for the Department of the Gulf, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., devotes much space to the subject of coast artillery. He says the re-distribution of the coast artillery in the Department of the gulf is of pressing importance and earnestly recommends, with a view to greater economy in administration, better discipline, and signally increased efficiency that would surely result, the concentration of these troops in main posts with the organization of the consequent number of ungarrisoned posts.

General Hill recommends that the coast artillery troops be sent to camps of instruction where as infantry they would serve with infantry, cavalry and field artillery, and threby get a knowledge of field exercises and of camping and caring for themselves which they could not acquire in garrison and for service in the field at any time of trouble if the conditions were such that sea coast fortifications could not play an effective role.

MAYN DROWNED IN GREAT FLOOD

River in Puget Sound Country Inundatd Great Scope of Country.

PEOPLES HOMES SUBMERGED

Thousands of Cattle Lost and Timber and Lumber Swept Out to Sea—Loss Will Reach Millions of Dollars.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 16.—A heavy rainfall Wednesday, 2.48 inches in four hours, and a Chinook wind which melted recent fresh snows in the Cascade mountains coming simultaneously are the causes of the most disastrous flood in the history of the Puget Sound.

The valleys of the White, Duwamish Cedar, Green, Steuck, Black and Puyallup rivers are under water, flooding 200 square miles of territory. All traffic over the Northern Pacific and Tacoma-Seattle interurban lines is at a standstill.

Six persons have been drowned. The greatest loss by the streams of the north has been done to the lumbering interests where millions of feet of logs and shingle bolts have been carried into the Sound and out to sea. Hundreds of farm houses and villages are submerged to the second stories and many persons are homelsss. The loss to the Northern Pacific alone will reach $150,000 and the total loss in the district will run to a half million.

Great Destruction in Oregon.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 16.—Reports from the Cowlitz river region to-night indicate that the crisis of the flood situation has passed. The waters which swept the river clean of all shingle and lumber property inundated the surrounding territory and flooded the towns of Castle Rock, Kelso, Osterander, and Olequa driving the people to the hills and high grounds, began to subside at noon.

While the damage to property was great on both sides of the river, no loss of life has been reported. Much live stock, however, was lost. Many persons are still camping in the hills to-night although most of the refugees have been able to reach the homes of friends on high ground. A drizzling rain fell to-day and unless these people can get places of shelter soon there will be great suffering. Steamers have gone up the Cowlitz river to gather up the homeless and transfer them to places of safety and shelter. A relief train on the Northern Pacific left Kalama this afternoon to work its way as far into the flooded region as possible.

The flood water has swept Cowlitz river clean, it is said, not a log or bolt of shingles being left. The loss to the lumber and shingle mills will amount to many thousands of dollars.

The flood in Castle Rock washed away two or thre houses, but did less damage than was first reported. North wakama, Washington, reports that damage to the extent of -200,000 was done by the flood.

ARCTIC EXPLORER IS NOT LOST.

Commander Peary Again Heard From —Steamer Roosevelt Crippled.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nov., 16.—The following dispatch was received here today by Mr. Morris K. Jesup from Commander Peary:

"Chateau Bay, Que., Nov., 16. via Lenox, Mass., delayed at Battle Harbor by prolonged weather. Constant effort necessary to keep Roosevelt from driving ashore. Broke best anchor and several lines. Leave here immediately for Sydney." The remainder of the dispatch is personal.

Halifax, N. S., Nov., 16.—Information received here today from Chateau Bay indicated that Commander Peary's steamer Roosevelt put into Chateau Bay only on account of thick weather. The straits of Belle Isle, through which the Roosevelt is to pass, are narrow and full of shoals and rocks, and are navigated with great risk in thick weather. Moreover, the Roosevelt is obliged to proceed with special caution as she is under jury steering apparatus, her rudder having been lost in the Arctic Ocean. Her propeller also lost a blade as a result of contact with ice floats. The normal speed of the Roosevelt, which is twelve miles an hour, has been reduced by mishap and the distance from Chateau Bay to Sydney, nearly 350 miles, may take several days.

Mrs. Peary, wife of the explorer, and W. S. Quigley, representing the Peary Arctic Club, are at Sydney, awaiting the arrival of the Roosevelt. They have had no communication from Captain Peary for ten days, but a Sydney firm has received a delayed cable from him dated Battle Harbor, containing an order for a stock of fresh provisions, and also announcing the damage to the Roosevelt's propeller and steering gear. Fear has been expressed recently that Peary had been lost on the rough coast of Labrador.

It's a heap better to have a reputation to live up to than to have one to live down.

A Shoe that Doubles a woman's Capacity for work or pleasure

A stylish shoe that's absolutely comfortable

No. 65, Red Cross Glazed Kid Lace, $3.50

This continual rubbing draws the feet, makes them burn, throb, ache. The constant strain tortures the nerves of the feet and they in turn tire out the whole system.

The Red Cross Shoe saves a woman's strength, because it removes this strain. The sole of the Red Cross Shoe is flexible.

Oxfords, $3.50 and $3.00
High Shoes, $4.00 and $3.50
